

Author Bio

Joel Mohr first became involved with technical rescue work as a member of the Port Moody Volunteer Fire Department in 2009 where he continues to be an active member. With a passion for technical rescue, Joel began working with Dynamic Rescue Systems and soon became a key player in their organization, providing emergency standby rescue, instruction, and equipment for industry, mining, and rescue organizations across Western Canada. In 2014 Joel began pursuing his M.D. and is currently a senior medical student at the University of British Columbia.